

Orchard's Story May Be Lies.

Real Murderer May Be Produced.

Boise, Idaho, June 7.—Harry Orchard took the stand this morning for his third day of examination, as the principal witness against Wm. D. Haywood, the secretary of the Western Federation of Miners, charged with the murder of former Governor Frank Steiensen.

The cross examination commenced yesterday afternoon and will probably take up the entire day and may be carried over till tomorrow. The State will thus have the details of the terrible story. The prisoner witness shows no sign of fatigue. When turned over to the defence he appeared to rally. He acted as though relieved from the strain and having once told in public of the murder of Steiensen seemed to his answer to Richardson's questions are delivered without hesitation. He is quick witted and self-possessed and appears not to feel the atmosphere of abhorrence with which he is surrounded. The cross examination is developing into a battle of wits with Richardson and Orchard.

According to those who know the facts of his early life, Orchard is not a naturalized citizen of the United States. His parents, of course, were Canadians, the father of English and the mother of Irish descent. Orchard himself had but little education. He attended a country school in Canada, but passed through only a few of the lower grades. He is the second child of seven. All his brothers and sisters are living. When still a boy he worked for the neighbors and when over twenty years of age when he left home and went to Saginaw, Michigan.

In the course of Orchard's examination Richardson asked questions to prove that Orchard began a career of dissipation early in life. The man himself says that it was only after several years of hard work that he began to drink and gamble. At that time he was building up a good business in the making of cheese but it is now twelve years since the turning point. The woman who is said to be at the bottom of it all is the wife of the man with whom he boarded while working at a cheese factory in Northumberland County, Canada. Infatuated he ran away with the woman, changed his name and afterwards, ashamed to return to his wife and child, he drifted into the life of crime that gradually led to taking up killing as a trade, by which he could earn easy money and avoid hard manual labor.

Orchard is a nervous and nervous man, so far as the closest observation can discover. At times when relating most frightful of the crimes of which he accuses himself his voice changed and lowered, but during the eight hours he has been on the stand under the fire of continual questioning the man's manner has altered little, and except for the first flutter of nervousness when he walked out into the court room and faced the crowd of curious faces after sixteen months of close incarceration he has shown no sign that he realized that he was making his record as the greatest criminal of the century.

The cross examination of Orchard will be severe in the extreme was evidenced in the first half hour. The counsel for the defense says that they will be able to tear down completely the story he has told in the direct examination. They have called about 150 witnesses and the majority of those are here, they say, to disprove what Orchard has told. In his direct examination Orchard was not sparing in mentioning names of people and addresses.

The counsel for the defence says that they will be able to prove by the testimony of those persons that what Orchard has stated is untrue. It is even asserted that they can produce persons who will say that they themselves committed murders of which Orchard accuses himself. Orchard shows little concern. He even laughs outright when asked what he thinks of the testimony. He asserts positively that the connection of his name with the murders is a fabrication and that Orchard has concocted him with the crimes partly out of spite and partly at the suggestion of detectives and enemies of the Federation. It is not known yet if Haywood will go on the stand. His counsel says they do not know that this will be necessary.

Attorney Richardson of the defense, in beginning the cross examination, asked to show the geography of Northumberland County, Ontario, where Orchard was born. The witness supplied the information unhesitatingly.

His parents, he said, were both dead. Orchard has a brother and elder sister, some living in Canada, some in New York state. Orchard gave the names of five sisters: Clara, Florence, Maggie, Mabel and Edith. All are married, except Edith, he said, but he could remember the present married name of only one, Maggie Fraser, who lives near Brighton, Ontario. His brother, Joseph Horsey, lives at Wooler, Ont. Orchard said he married in 1888. He has heard from his wife since his arrest. He has one child. He once lived in Detroit. He has one wife in Canada and another in Colorado.

Mr. Richardson was very aggressive with the witness, addressing as to all this in fast and harsh tones. Orchard said he ran away from the other wife coming to Nelson, B.C. Orchard said he was married in 1888. He went there by the name of Little.

Orchard said that when Mr. Simpson returned from Pilot Bay, he went to Spokane. He adopted the name of Orchard. From Spokane he went to Wallace, Idaho, where he acquired an interest in the Hercules mine, now owned by Ed. Joyce, co-president of the Western Federation of Miners. Joyce is reported to be a multi-millionaire. Orchard sold out his interest in 1897 and bought a wood yard in Burke, Ida. He had borrowed some money on his mining stock before selling it. Until 1899, Orchard then admitted having told Pettibone something about the insurance, and having stolen the cheese and sold it prior to the fire. He also admitted having told Pettibone that he had an altercation with his brother in Utica, N.Y., and picked him off.

Here, during the cross-examination, had Orchard given the date of this conversation with Pettibone as to correct him. It was in 1904, said Orchard. Orchard added it was never, as a matter of fact, had any trouble before leaving Canada, and was never in or near Utica.

Seattle, Wash., June 7.—A despatch from Walla Walla says: "Harry Orchard has done many wrongs, but I hope that he has repented now that he understands their magnitude and that he will be given a chance to lead a good, true and honest life, after the present ordeal has passed."

Mr. Joyce is the statement of Mr. Frank Steiensen, who is attending the annual camp meeting and conference of the Seventh Day Adventists at College Place. She seems to be above hatred at the man who killed her husband. Mr. Joyce, however, and Pettibone also expressed no opinion, saying she had not thought of their connection with the case. She is living excluded and spending most of his life reading the bible and other religious works. She said yesterday: "The trial of Mr. Haywood and Pettibone is the commencement of a national struggle between the United States government and organized labor and will eventually lead to rebellion. When the Court D'Alene trouble arose, Mr. Steiensen was greatly worried, and one evening after he had made his final stand, he told me he thought it would cost him his life."

Three Murderers In The West

Armenians Who Killed Priest in New York.

Instructions have been issued from depot division of the N.W.M.P. at Regina to all outposts of the force to be on watch for three Armenians, who are wanted for the murder of a priest in New York a week ago last Sunday. It was thought that the men were captured at Calgary last Saturday, but upon a description of them being wired from Regina, and the men answering questions satisfactorily, they were released.

The men are to be charged with one of the worst crimes in the history of the New York police. They are said to have taken Rev. Father Casper, pastor of the Armenian Apostolic church and placed him in a trunk while still alive, the lid of the trunk was then closed down and the priest left there to suffocate. When found life had left the body, and the New York police immediately set out to secure the murderers.

They were traced as far as Montreal, which place they left a week ago last Sunday, and it is thought that they are somewhere about this section of the country.

OFFICIAL INFORMATION

The official information of the presence of these murderers in the West is given out by the following message from Commissioner Perry, to all western divisions.

N.W.M.P. Regina.

To Officer Commanding,

The latter dark complexion, dark hair, nose, pointed, big nose, low lips, age 28. All wore dark clothes, and left Montreal on the 26th of May. Make thorough search."

"A. B. Perry, Commissioner, Regina, May 21."

Edmonton Authorities Taking Precautions.

The smallpox situation in Edmonton remains unchanged. H. A. Paly, the victim, is isolated in a tent and the authorities are considering the question of isolating the quarantine, which in the meantime is being strictly enforced. The city is taking every precaution to keep the disease confined to the one point, and no danger of any spread of the malady exists.

Japanese Prince Has Landed

Quebec, June 7.—Prince Fushimi, with his suite landed at King's wharf at 11:45 o'clock when a salute of 47 guns was fired from the citadel. Prince Fushimi was met at the wharf by Earl Grey, Mr. Louis Jetté, Hon. Mr. Templeman, Hon. Mr. Lemieux, Hon. Mr. Noyes, consul-general of Japan, Sir Frederick Borden, Lieut.-Col. Spinkens, of the Japanese consulate at Washington, General Lake, Lieut.-Col. Vital, Ottawa, Hon. Mr. Gouin and many other distinguished gentlemen. Detachments were on hand to act as a body guard to the Prince, and also a strong detachment of the 8th Rifles as a guard of honor. The procession started for the City Hall about 10 o'clock. Prince Fushimi dripping in a large carriage accompanied by his O.C. and Lieut. Gov., Sir Louis Jetté. At the foot of the steps the Prince was met by Mayor Gauthier and the city clerk in their robes of office. The band played the Japanese national hymn. The prince was conducted to a throne especially erected for the city council here where the mayor read an address of welcome in French. The prince read his answer in the same language.

Baseball. One to Edmonton.

Medicine Hat were last night checked in their run of victories when they had to take the small end of a 4-3 score in their second game with the Capitals. It was fast and exciting ball from start to finish, and when Edmonton came up to bat in the ninth, after the Hat had done nothing and with the score 3-5, it looked as though it might be a ten-inning game. But a fire hit to right field once by Kid Ford, the Capitals' catcher, brought in the winning run. Harris, the flat third baseman, was called out in the sixth for changing his position from one side of the plate to the other, a decision which rather surprised him. In the seventh there was considerable dispute as to whether a foul fly caught by Ford had touched the grand stand wire, the umpire declaring the batter out.

Crit occupied the box for the home team, and pitched in fine style, only five hits being chalked up against him, while Holte for the visitors was also hard to hit.

Shot With His Own Rifle

Valley City, N.D., June 7.—This morning a shooting affair occurred in the northern part of Barnes county, about eighteen miles from this city, which resulted in the instant killing of James Lewis, a local farmer. The victim was a well-to-do farmer, and was shot by a man named George N. McClure, at the farm of C. M. Padgett. It is alleged by McClure that Lewis was in the northern part of Barnes county, and was shot by him and that yesterday the matter culminated in a violent quarrel in which Lewis was discharged and sent to the farm of Lewis went to the farm of Mr. Padgett and stayed overnight. This morning McClure took Lewis' trunk and other belongings, including a rifle, over to the Padgett farm. The quarrel between the two men was renewed and resulted in McClure shooting and killing Lewis with his own rifle. After the shooting McClure went to Lacey and gave himself up to Deputy Sheriff Ole Oppen. McClure came to Barnes county from Illinois some 18 months or 2 years ago, and has been a tenant of the farm of Wm. Reid, of this city, who speaks very highly of him in the latter industries and as a farmer. Lewis worked for him last summer and was hired again this summer. McClure is a rather handsome young woman and the mother of four children.

Big Fire in a Dakota City.

St. Paul, Minn., June 7.—Over half the business district of Willow City, N. D., is in flames. The fire started in the Luster butcher shop and spread to the buildings on both sides of the street. The fire started out with its engine, a distance of twenty miles, but the flames were well under control before they arrived there. For two blocks along Main street, west of the depot, everything is burned except the Grate Hotel. Houses, and a brick hardware store. The loss and insurance are not known, but fifteen business houses, mostly wooden, are gone. Three general stores, a hardware store, two drug stores, and two hotels. This is the second disastrous fire the city has had in the last fifteen months.

Independence Growing.

(Woodstock Sentinel Review)

Woodstock theory may be held with reference to the proper place of the party. It is undeniable that too many party men on both sides act as if they believed their first duty was to the party. In regard to the public service, the principle still prevails of claiming monopoly of office by right of conquest. In the making of appointments the interests of the party are too often the first, and not infrequently the only consideration. There has of late years been a considerable development of the spirit of independence among the electors, but even in this respect there is still great room for improvement.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The story told by Harry Orchard of his connection with the murder of former Governor Steunenberg is among the most sensational of a revolting crime.

Whether it is true or not, and we have grave doubts of its authenticity, it is a remarkable confession of a revolting crime.

The coolness with which it is related is one of the strongest reasons for doubting its truthfulness. That a man of Orchard's intelligence should go into all the harrowing details of a murder which he has had time to reflect upon, and the seriousness of which he has had an opportunity to comprehend, without any evidence of emotion or concern, seems to be beyond ordinary conception.

His action is more in accord with the disposition displayed by a cheap actor, a consummate liar, whose mendacity is shown in vanity, or the paid hireling of a Pinkerton detective, or a petty-fogging attorney, whose maintenance of his position depends on his securing a conviction. The conversion of Orchard is of a piece with this view of his conduct. That this depraved scoundrel, this degenerate wretch, whose whole life was a succession of crimes, should become converted just when the State Department and a detective agency needed his services to send two "undesirable citizens" to the scaffold, savors too much of the last minute conversions of men whom the law of the land is about to send to the Great Hereafter for brutal, heartless crimes.

There is one thing that seems to be lost sight of and that is that a man who will deliberately lie when driven into a corner, will not hesitate to swear to the falsehood he has uttered. The accused man may be proved eventually to have been a villain of the worst type. In the meantime they are on trial for their lives, United States' justice, like British justice, presumes every man to be innocent until he is proved guilty. No man should be adjudged guilty on the evidence of a man whose whole life has been surcharged with crime.

The plea of Orchard that he was only a tool in the hands of the accused should not count with a jury of sensible men for a moment. Orchard was too old in crime to be made a tool of by any one.

Regina City Council is wrestling with the question of what to do with the real estate men. Last year the city imposed a license fee of $100 but, "owing to the strong opposition forthcoming, coupled with the doubt thrown on it by the city solicitor, no attempt was made to collect the license and it was generally supposed that the whole matter would automatically disappear with the coming into force of this year's floor tax system under the new city charter." Thus, reads the explanation of one of the Aldermen who has charge of licenses. It was found however, that more money could be got out of the real estate men by the special tax than by treating them as other business men are treated and having them subject to the floor tax.

It is a singular thing that the real estate business has in the minds of some men, been placed on a par with the pawnbroker and second hand business. The reasons for this are two. The first is that innate feeling of jealousy that exists in some natures toward the man who succeeds. The second is due to the unscrupulous dealings of some men in the business, who in their anxiety to get rich quickly, have not hesitated to resort to sharp practices to take advantage of the unwary. There is a legitimate real estate business, as there is a legitimate dry goods business, or grocery business, or business in any other line of trade and the only effort to put it into a class by itself and have it subject to special restrictions should come from the dealers themselves, in the first place, to keep it clean, and in the second place to keep it running in logical trade channels and not have it conducted by every Fly by Night, who blows into town, or every Jim, Jack and Jerry who wishes to take advantage of the anxiety of an investor, to make a little pocket money.

We lived in one town, not so long ago, where one of the most successful real estate dealers was the pastor of a leading church and the fact was well known about town. His persuasive manner and sonorous voice, trained in exhortation made him more than a match for the regular mud merchants and they used to complain a little, but that was all. The abolition of the curb stone real estate agent rests entirely with the dealers themselves. When they agree that they will pay no middle-men's commissions and they are all honest enough to keep the agreement the curb man will seek other employment. In so far as their conduct of a legitimate real estate business goes, they are entitled to the same consideration as other business men.

Machine Will Fly.

Professor Bell Says he has Solved the Problem of Aerial Navigation.

"Some years ago the flying machine was a problem. It is such no longer. The problem has been solved." The speaker was Prof. Alexander Graham Bell, who is in Halifax from Washington, and is on his way to his summer home and laboratory at "Beinn Breagh," Cape Breton.

"There are now five flying machines on the 'heavier than air' principle." Dr. Bell said to the Mail and Empire correspondent, "two of which at least, apart from my own, have demonstrated the physical practicability of the idea. They are aeroplanes I hope this summer to be able to show that my flying machine, on the tetrahedral kite plan, on the preliminary work on which I have been engaged for some years, will fly under any atmospheric conditions with power supplied from a gasoline motor. As soon as I go to Cape Breton I will begin the work of installing a motor on a machine, the tetrahedral cells of which are ready. The motor has been forwarded to Cape Breton. It is of 12 or 16 horse power, weighs 120 pounds, and has been specially constructed for the purpose. Another motor that I was examining with a view to using on my flying machine weighed 240 pounds, but I have chosen the one of half the weight, and which will furnish equal power.

Five Degrees of Frost in Toronto.

This is the Third Backward Spring
In Fifty Years, Says the Observatory Man

(Toronto Star)
"You newspaper men have been pressing us pretty hard of late," smiled the weather man at the Observatory, when The Star called this morning. "Well, what do you want to know anyway?"

"Some people tell us that when we have a cold April and May in all likelihood we will have a war."
June," co-mended the newspaperman.

"There's absolutely no foundation for such a statement," declared the weather man. "On the contrary quite the reverse is generally the case.
When a cold wave comes in during April and May it is very likely to continue during the summer."

BALMY SPELL SOON.
"But you need not take it so much to heart," said the weather man with a smile. "The predictions this year are for warmer weather during June, and I'll probably not be long before we get a real balmy spell."

"The weather is not only cold in Canada, but also in Russia, Germany and other parts of north-western Europe. This continued cold snap in the wheat growing district of Europe is the cause in the great rise in the price of that grain."

"How about that Gulf Stream bullseye," asked The Star. "Is there any truth in the report that the Gulf stream has changed its course?"
"Nonsense," declared the weatherman. "That report originated in York didn't it?"

The reporter replied in the affirmative.

WARM IN YUKON.
"Then that it accounts for it," said the weather man smiling. "It is interesting to note that while we in Ontario and Quebec have been shivering with the cold the more favored climates of the sub-Arctic Circle have been enjoying weather that would melt the pelt on a polar bear."

In Yukon the temperature has been in the neighborhood of 70 degrees for the past month, and on several occasions it has soared above 80 degrees."

"How do you account for this unusual state of affairs?"
"We can't account for it," replied
the weather man. "All we know is that a cold wave originating in Saskatchewan has moved south and settled over Ontario and Quebec, and a warm wave has moved over British Columbia and the Yukon."

"There was 5 inches of snow at Perry Sound this morning, while in Alberta the temperature touched as high as 70 degrees, and in that Province clear skies and balmy zephyrs prevailed, while Ontario was lashed with wind and pelted with hail and snow."

"It was pretty cold in Toronto
last night wasn't it?"
FIVE BELOW FREEZING
"It was 5 degrees below freezing at 5 o'clock this morning," replied the weather man, "but we Torontonians were not the worst off. Up on Lake Superior points the thermometer registered 14 degrees of frost. All through the Ottawa valley the temperature was below freezing last night, but in the Maritime provinces the weather is considerable warmer than here, and yesterday in Nova Scotia
the temperature was up to 68 degrees."

THIRD IN FIFTY YEARS
"This year may be placed third on the record of backward springs during the last 50 years. On June 3rd and 4th, 1889, there were slight traces of snow in the neighborhood of Toronto, and on May 30th, 1856,
there were several snow flurries."

In the records of the Jesuit Pa-thers a cycle of years commencing in 1812 and continuing to 1817 are marked down as being "especially cold and dreary" when winter commenced in August and continued till the following June and when the farmer could raise no crop but was forced to subsist upon game which was difficult to secure. The chronicles go on to tell how much sickness and misery were necessitated by the unusual prolongation of winter."

"Is it possible that we are entering such a cycle now?" anticipated The Star.

It is quite possible," was the comforting reply, "although we all hope for warmer weather yet this year."

THE GALE UNPRECEDENTED
"Do you know that the gale that we had on the lake yesterday is almost unprecedented in the lake region during May?" remarked the me-teteorologist. "Over at the Island the wind was blowing at the rate of 40 miles an hour and on Lake Huron and Georgian Bay it whistled along at 50 miles an hour."

"Heavy gales have occurred on Lake Ontario in May in '75, '78 and
'74."

"Is there any connection between sun spots and the weather?" queried
the reporter of the astronomical
man.

"We do not know whether there is or not," was the reply. "Evidence year means to point to the contrary."
During May the sun's surface has been comparatively free of large

The reporter looked through the telescope, where after considerable focusing he observed one was spot
only 1000 miles in diameter decreas-ing the face of the orb of day.

UNPLEASANT ON ISLAND
Never in the experience of the oldest resident on the Island have they passed such an uncomfortable afternoon and night as they did yesterday and last night. The cold blast wind blew across Toronto's summer resort at the rate of 30 miles an hour and felt as if it had travelled over a continent of ice fields.

The flimsy summer houses and the canvas tent very hot protection and in the best of the houses the occupants hugged the stoves and fireplaces in an effort to keep warm.

"We had winter fires on and even then were far from comfortable as the piercing wind found every crack in the walls, while the carpet danced on the floor like a drunken sailor,"
said one gentleman this morning.

"We had to go to bed to keep warm," giggled one of a group of school-girls, and by the sympathetic smiles and nudges there must have been many more in the same boat.

Little real damage was done, however. A couple of boats at the Point dragged their anchors some distance, but did not get entirely away. Another tied to a post at the shore got a severe pounding, which will necessitate its being repaired before use.

ROUGH ON THE LAKES.
The storm yesterday afternoon disturbed shipping considerably. The steamer Belleville, of the R. and O.
line was storm-bomb all yesterday afternoon and all last night at Port Hope, she left this forenoon and arrived in Toronto between two and three o'clock this afternoon, almost twenty-four hours late.

The steamer Chipewagan has been taken off the Toronto Lewiston route for the time being, but will be put on again as soon as the traffic warrants it.

The Hamilton boats carried good loads this morning and last night, in spite of the inclement weather and rough water.

On the Niagara and Niagara Central routes, after one good day's business, the traffic has fallen as near the vanishing point as possible and will exist only those who must travel are taking in the lake trips.

Contractor McBurnett, who has the C.P.R. work, is awaiting the removal of the old siding rails on the site of the new station. The engineers have staked out the site for the building, and as soon as the rails are taken away, work on the excavation will begin.

Walsh and Walsh, the new real estate firm on Whyte Ave., have made a good start. They opened up on Thursday evening and have since sold lot 11 in Block 47 to an Eastern man for $8,600 and lots 19 and 20 in Block 56 to a Quebec purchaser for $1,000.

The rain last night and today is assented by the farmers who came to the city as a great boon to the growing crops and worth many thousands of dollars. They say that the growth is advancing rapidly and catching up to last year's advance at the same season.

The members of the city council are conferring today with J. R. Lavelle, solicitor appointed to act for the municipality in the matter of the Strathcona Radial Tramway Company's franchise. Mr. Lavelle was chosen to act for the city as J. D. Jamieson, city solicitor, is the secretary of the Tramway Co. The agreement between the city and the company is being considered at today's meeting.

Mr. Alexander McDermid and family arrived from Scotland Wednesday night and have located in Strathcona. Mr. McDermid is a brother of Mrs. Wm. Durrand, McDonald Ave. Mr. McDermid is also a brother of the homestead inspector and the two have not seen each other in thirty-seven years. Their meeting last night was a pleasant one and as both are practical jokers they made the most of it in good natured banter about which looked the older, was most bald, had lost most teeth and showed most plainly the tussle with Old Father Time.

CHRONICLES.

The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church at Montreal says there is too much drinking in the Canadian West. The spokesman was a SKY Pilot named Ralph Connor, who tossed up against a Black Rock in the last Manitoba election so hard that he recalled his Glangary School Days and sent a Prospector out to hunt for a doctor. He says men are too busy in the West making money to attend to moral questions and incidentally we presume to read nursery tales.

Six cartloads of Galicians arrived on last night's train. There was great disappointment because the Potter and McDougall bus was not on hand to receive them. They all went to Edmonton and will likely be on hand in the next Dominion election to assist in the return of the Minister of the Interior.

A little bird flew in last night and asked who kept the hospital books that E. S. Bowden-Smart is auditing. We couldn't tell, because we didn't know. The bird went away but returned and blamed it if it didn't ask who is auditing the hospital books that E. S. Bowden-Smart is, and again we couldn't tell because it wouldn't.

Edmonton is going to fence a park and establish a zoo, beginning with three buffalo. Another evidence that the halcyon days of the real estate freak have departed.

Orchard, the self confessed murderer of Governor Stannburn, says his favorite reading is ecclesiastical history and the lives of George Whitfield and John Wesley, which reminds us of Ingersoll's story of the man who murdered his friend, stole his lunch of sandwiches, ate the bread, and threw the meat away because it was Friday.

Postal delivery of letters began in Edmonton this morning at eight o'clock. It is hoped that the work of the postmen will relieve the congestion in the Edmonton office so that Strathcona mail for points east will be forwarded within a lifetime of the date received.

A Japanese named Ohamura has been arrested in British Columbia for illegally manufacturing whiskey. His fall from grace in the name record is probably due to his Irish name.

The Western Time Monthly is denouncing the evils of the Early Rising habit, and quotes the doctors to maintain its contention.

It says that early rising lowers vitality and results in brain lag and early decay. That accounts for the demise of our grandmothers at the early age of 96. She made a rule of rising at 5 o'clock in the morning in summer and six in winter and carried out the foolish practice nearly all her life. If the foolish old lady had read the Home Monthly, she would likely have lived to be 99 and a half. The early rising habit also accounts for the lack of vitality in that dear old bed of ours, who at the age of 84 recalls to our mind the time, when at 50 he was still left handed and right footed and demonstrated a near approach to perpetual motion, by the swiftness with which he could make the one follow the other. His early decay is no doubt due to the fact that he used to be around at four a.m., assuring the neighbors what they meant by lying in bed all forenoon. His oldest brother at 86 picked his own apples and fell. He is vigorous and hearty in his own belief, but of course these old people are always mistaken. That vigor and heartiness is only decay and lowered vitality according to the Home Monthly, and it knows. Then there is that old uncle, a brother-in-law of these two, who passed the ninety mile stone last summer, and still persists in ruining his health by getting up at six a.m. and his wife at 80 lowers her vitality by getting up to wake him, for fear that he would "sleep in." There are a few on our mother's side who are between 80 and 100, who have shortened their lives by getting up before breakfast, and who persist in it, in the face of the Solomonian advice of the Home Monthly and other experts.

The foreigners who arrived yesterday, are described as Galicians and Bohemians, the two districts from which they come being divided only by a river. From their appearance on arrival here yesterday, the water in that river must have been too low to allow of frequent bathing.

A contemporary tells how to improve a horse's coat. If he has far to go, the improvement of his pants is of more importance in the opinion of most drivers.
